

Walking for Dementia

Bestwood & Sherwood

Walking can help prevent and manage Dementia

- Moderate to brisk walking improves your attention span, brain function, processing speed and memory
- And if you walk briskly for 30 minutes every day you can reduce your risk of developing dementia by 62%

walking can

- Connect you to your neighbours and your local community
- Give you more energy and help you to sleep better
- Help you to manage your weight and reduce your blood pressure
- Make you feel good

Start with 3 times a week and build up to a short walk every day if possible

Walk at a moderate to brisk pace (you should be able to talk)

If you're walking outdoors, choose safe, familiar routes to reduce confusion or anxiety

Or, you could try indoor walking (walking around the supermarket or shopping centre all counts!)

And walking with a companion or group can make it motivational and enjoyable as well as safe!
